The Road To Nab End 2012-09-20

william woodruff had the sort of childhood satirised in the famous monty python yorkshireman sketch the son of a weaver he was born on a pallet of straw at the back of the mill and two days later his mother was back at work life was extrememly tough for the family in 1920 s blackburn a treat was sheep s head or cow heel soup and got worse when his father lost his job when the cotton industry started its terminal decline woodruff had to find his childhood fun in the little free time he had available between his delivery job and school but he never writes self pityingly leaving the reader to shed the tears on his behalf at ten his mother takes him on his one and only holiday to blackpool he never wonders where they get the money to do so only where she disappears to with strange men in the afternoons before taking him to the funfair pockets jingling an hour or two later nab end is certainly not all grime and gloom however there s a cast of great minor characters from an unfrocked vicar to william s indomitable grandmother bridget who lend some colour and humour and all against the strongly rendered social backdrop of the 1920s and 1930s

The Road to Nab End 2000

william woodruff the son of a weaver was born on a pallet of straw at the back of the mill and two days later his mother was back at work life was tough for the family in 1920 s blackburn a treat was sheep s head or cow heel soup and got worse when his father lost his job when the cotton industry started its terminal decline

Beyond Nab End 2003

the second volume of woodruff s memoirs starts with him having arrived in poplar in the early 1930s on spec he turns up at a steel foundry and luckily gets a job his digs are with an old couple in bow where he has to share a single bed head to toe with their mentally retarded son life in the foundry is grim but william is indomitable for recreation one day he cycles then in the days before inflatable tyres to berkhamstead to try and track down an old girlfriend she s not there and he has to return in a snowstorm it takes him eight hours to get back to poplar and then he has to get up three hours later to work at the foundry eventually he decides to get some leernin and his first white collar job starts for the water board in brettenham house he continues to pursue his studies finally winning a place at ruskin college oxford how the ex steel worker became an oxford academic and william s concluding description of returning from the war to meet the son he s never seen is deeply moving

Nab End and Beyond 2006-12-01

william woodruff had the sort of childhood satirised in the famous monty python yorkshireman sketch the son of a weaver he was born on a pallet of straw at the back of the mill and two days later his mother was back at work life was extrememly tough for the family in 1920 s blackburn a treat was sheep s head or cow heel soup and got worse when his father lost his job when the cotton industry started its terminal decline at 16 william leaves the poverty of blackburn for london where he finds no streets paved with gold but filthy tenements and such squalor only a great city can conceal he gets a job in an iron foundry and finds lodgings with a beer swilling landlady and her family a predatory daughter and a tattooed madman of a son with whom he has to share his bed then at night school william discovers his love of learning which eventually takes him to plater college oxford as mosley s blackshirts provoke fighting on the streets william witnesses the courage of ordinary people in the face of war a war in which he himself will soon be fighting

in an ever shrinking world the need for a global perspective in dealing with the modern world has become acute this book attempts to provide such a perspective by investigating the major changes in geopolitics and world economy during the past 500 years however compact it enables us to understand the present unravelling of communism and the growing challenge from asia to western superiority it is shown that in so many ways the problems of the contemporary world spring from the unprecedented era of western domination which the non western world is now trying to unlive

this book investigates the major changes in world history and world economy during the past five hundred years and explains to what extent world forces have been responsible for shaping both past and present its underlying theme is the struggle for power in which since the sixteenth century the west has prevailed many of the problems of the contemporary world including terrorism are the legacy of the period of western domination until the rise of the west and its incomparable impact on every branch of human activity the centre of the world has been in asia by the nineteenth century world power was firmly in the hands of the west america s later rise to world status was prompted by the two world wars the most prominent of the western nations the us is now blamed for all the excesses of an earlier colonial age

by investigating the major changes in world history during the past five hundred years woodruff explains to what extent world forces have been responsible for shaping both the past and the present this extraordinary book tells of the rise and fall of empires and civilizations it recounts the growing communality and interdependence of nations it shows how so many problems of the contemporary world are the legacy of an unprecedented era of western domination the end of which was hastened by the two world wars in explaining how the world has come to be what it is the author examines the implications surrounding the end of the cold war the unravelling of communism in eastern europe and the growing challenge of the non western world to western superiority it is woodruff s belief that we have reached a crucial transitional stage in world history in which the world will no longer be shaped by the single image of western modernism but increasingly by the image of all cultures and civilizations with the shift of geopolitical and geoeconomic power to asia and with the growing world wide influence of religious fundamentalism and revolutionary nationalism the need for a global perspective has become acute a concise history of the modern world encompasses the learning and the insights gleaned by the author from a life time career as a world historian

Shadows of Glory 2003

woodruff s novel is about the fortunes of an oxford university rowing eight leading up to and during the second world war 1938 the arnold college crew are a varied bunch united only by the love of their sport and a sense that theirs is a generation which may have to fight for king and country there s charley bradbury a scottish communist and pacifist david evans a chorister and super boffin roger blundell a witty dandy tony markham heir to a substantial estate and brother to four mitford type sisters pat riley charming somewhat mysterious irishman alex haverfield handsome and a natural leader max elsfield a dangerous self destructive drinker and bill clark a naval cadet as the war progresses they are gradually whittled away some like max elsfield and david evans have been unhappy in love and have brought about their own destruction through reckless assaults on the enemy others like charley bradbury have had the bad luck to be in the wrong place at the wrong time torpedoed on a passenger vessel from russia ultimately this like the nab end stories is a book about common humanity the importance of virtues such as faith loyalty and self sacrifice

American Congo 2009-06-30

this is the story of how rural black people struggled against the oppressive sharecropping system of the arkansas and mississippi delta during the first half of the twentieth century delta planters aided by local law enforcement engaged in peonage murder theft and disfranchisement as individuals and through collective struggle black men and women fought back demanding a just return for their crops and laying claim to a democratic vision of citizenship nan woodruff shows how the freedom fighters of the 1960s would draw on this half century tradition of protest thus expanding our standard notions of the civil rights movement and illuminating a neglected but significant slice of the american black experience in giving to charity should we strive to do the greatest good or promote a lesser good that we care more about on such issues ethical theory can have momentous practical effects this volume is a unique collection of new papers on philanthropy from a range of philosophical perspectives the authors are among the best regarded philosophers writing on ethics today and include a number of thinkers who have not previously published on the subject most recently published work by philosophers on charitable giving tends to support what is called effective altruism doing the most good you can in practice however charitable giving is often local and relatively ineffective supporting causes dear to the givers hearts are ineffective givers doing wrong or merely doing less praiseworthy work than they might this volume includes at least three challenges to the effective altruism movement as well as two chapters that defend it against the gathering tide of objections most thinkers who align with utilitarianism support effective altruism and some other perspectives do as well but the ideal of personal integrity can push the other way so can justice based theories of giving perhaps i could do the most good by stealing and giving to the poor but that would be unjust in the most important cases however justice leads to the same result as effective altruism other theories give different results the authors represent include intuitionism virtue ethics kantian ethics utilitarianism theory of justice and the ideal of personal integrity

if great books encourage you to look at the world in an entirely new way then dominion is a very great book indeed written with terrific learning enthusiasm and good humour holland's book is not just supremely provocative but often very funny sunday times history book of the year christianity is the most enduring and influential legacy of the ancient world and its emergence the single most transformative development in western history even the increasing number in the west today who have abandoned the faith of their forebears and dismiss all religion as pointless superstition remain recognisably its heirs seen close up the division between a sceptic and a believer may seem unbridgeable widen the focus though and christianity's enduring impact upon the west can be seen in the emergence of much that has traditionally been cast as its nemesis in science in secularism and yes even in atheism that is why dominion will place the story of how we came to be what we are and how we think the way that we do in the broadest historical context ranging in time from the persian invasion of greece in 480 bc to the on going migration crisis in europe today and from nebuchadnezzar to the beatles it will explore just what it was that made christianity so revolutionary and disruptive how completely it came to saturate the mind set of latin christendom and why in a west that has become increasingly doubtful of religion's claims so many of its instincts remain irredeemably christian the aim is twofold to make the reader appreciate just how novel and uncanny were christian teachings when they first appeared in the world and to make ourselves and all that we take for granted appear similarly strange in consequence we stand at the end point of an extraordinary transformation in the understanding of what it is to be human one that can only be fully appreciated by tracing the arc of its parabola over millennia bounded by the great war on one side and by the looming shadow of the second world war on the other the inter war period has characteristically been portrayed as a time of great and unrelenting depression in martin pugh's lively and thought provoking book however the acclaimed historian vividly shows how the british people reacted to the privations of wartime by indulging in leisure and entertainment activities of all kinds from dancing and cinema going to smoking football pools and paid holidays he explodes the myths of a nation of unwed women revealing that in the 1930s the institution of marriage was reaching its heyday and points to a rise in real incomes improvements in diet and health and the spread of cheap luxuries the result is an extraordinary engaging work of history that presents us with a fresh perspective and brings out both the strangeness and the familiarity of this point in time
