Draft of a Charter 1866 forty years after the bangkok declaration which established the association of southeast asian nations asean a new document was drafted as a result of bold and visionary recommendations of an asean committee of eminent persons the asean charter which came into force in 2008 provides asean s legal status and institutional framework in effect it is a legally binding agreement among the 10 asean member states in many respects however the charter is more important as an aspirational document written by one of the persons involved in the negotiations leading to the adoption of the charter this meticulously researched publication helps readers navigate the ambiguities of the charter by detailing an insider s background provision by provision of the debates that went into the making of the asean charter it not only explains how the provisions of the charter came to be drafted but also how they relate to the realities of diplomatic practice this volume will be an indispensable reference for scholars working diplomats and businesses and institutions that have a stake in asean the asean charter is a commitment for us to become a rules based community it is time for us especially the weaker countries among us to be ruled by law rather than by political whim national interest or military power walter woon s work will be a major contribution to that end rodolfo c severino former secretary general of asean 1998 2002 prof walter woon and i represented singapore in the high level task force which drafted the asean charter he is the ideal author for such a commentary on the charter this should be read by everyone interested in asean tommy koh ambassador at large ministry of foreign affairs singapore

The ASEAN Charter 2015-09-22 this book takes the reader inside the charter school movement answering such questions as what is a charter school how are charter schools different from other public schools what does it take to create a charter school what motivates the people who initiate such schools what lessons can be learned from the experiences of those who have founded charter schools what does the growth of the charter school movement mean for society at large using detailed case studies of seven schools in three states this book explores the challenges faced by the founders of these schools and develops guidelines for creating a successful school seymour sarason s work on the creation of settings is used as a basis for examining the complex human interactions that contributed to formation of a unique culture at each school as well as to establish guidelines for setting up a successful school introductory and concluding chapters place the charter school movement within a broader social and historical context tensions between the american tradition of local control of schools and the centralized tradition of schooling imported from europe in the late 19th century are discussed the gradual bureaucratization of u s public schools during the 20th century is described along with problems that have been associated with the increasingly hierarchical and impersonal nature of educational institutions

Establishment of a Charter Review Committee 2007 from the introduction the charter schools act of 1996 house bill 955 authorizing north carolina to have up to one hundred charter schools was the culmination of a compromise deal between republicans and democrats finalized as the clock struck midnight june 21 1996 it was the last day of the general assembly before adjournment the gop sweep of american politics in 1994 was buoyed by a republican policy manifesto called the contract with america it helped propel republicans to earn a majority in the nc house of representatives for a brief time the first majority it had since the civil war democrats seized a house majority back the very next year and were not sympathetic with charters then nor today had the bill not passed that raleigh summer night while the house republicans had the stage there may not have been the first one hundred charter schools in north carolina to write about

just as i retired from the senate at the end of 2010 republicans gained control of the general assembly this time both the senate and the house within seven months they passed richard stevens senate bill 8 removing the 100 charter school limit freeing those supporting school choice to apply for and operate new schools unencumbered by an artificial ceiling governor beverly perdue signed the bill into law june 17 2011 just four days short of fifteen years from the date the first hundred were authorized the second one hundred charters generation 2 didn't just appear overnight the applicant schools faced new and stronger challenges by the education monolith than the first one hundred schools and surprisingly more challenges from the state board of education the office of charter schools and the charter advisory bodies the thought of there being no limit as opposed to the original bill controlling their number signaled a potentially unbridled threat whereas the first one hundred were securely tethered by law about the author reddie goodall is a former state senator and cpa he was the president of the north carolina alliance for public charter schools and in that capacity became the first fulltime charter advocate in north carolina later he founded the nc public charter schools association where he served as executive director goodall with many others helped double the number of charters in north carolina he has been a founding board member of four schools beginning in 1999 and currently manages goodall consulting which provides accounting and other business support services for charters across the state in 2018 he was given a lifetime achievement award by the association for his service to charter schools

A Translation of a Charter, granted to the inhabitants of the City of Exeter, by King Charles the First [17 Dec. 1627]: likewise some abstracts and quotations from charters and grants to the City of London, which serve as explanations to ... part of the charter ... By a Citizen of Exeter 1785 moving beyond the debate over whether or not charter schools should exist a smarter charter wrestles with the question of what kind of charter schools we should encourage the authors begin by tracing the evolution of charter schools from albert shanker's original vision of giving teachers room to innovate while educating a diverse population of students to today's charter schools where student segregation levels are even higher than in traditional public schools in the second half of the book the authors examine two key reforms currently seen in a small but growing number of charter schools socioeconomic integration and teacher voice that have the potential to improve performance and reshape the stereotypical image of what it means to be a charter school

Some Reminiscences of a Charter Member 1910 this book takes a comprehensive look at the ways in which charters control enrollment and retention in their schools often limiting equitable access for all students it critiques the manner in which charters counsel out students frequently english learners students with special needs and non white students for even minor infractions or poor academic performance and urges state and federal policy makers to design a more inclusive and equitable charter sector

A Charter Diary 2019-03-28 this book speaks about how a budget reveals school values and by shifting resources to support staff and student development a school coping with regular turnover can be filled with more confident and capable community members a school

crawling with leaders emerged as more student teacher and non instructional staff were supported in new roles aimed at building an inspired culture with the talent and capacity to move others to action the old ways of doing school do not address the needs of the 21st century learner and while many forces with limited views of education were at play this story does provide an example of what promising things can and should happen to increase engagement and learning in more charter schools across america

*Report [with Draft of New Charter]. 1875 the first part of the book reviews the multi level system of protection currently operating in europe and its constitutional implications the charter is analysed from a legal political and practical standpoint the activity of the european parliament as a fundamental rights actor will also be examined as well as the right to a fair trial and to effective judicial protection before and by the eu courts the second part of the volume addresses the impact of a binding charter on specific areas of eu law the order in which the contributions have been set out reflects the structure of the treaty on the functioning of the european union free circulation of persons the internal market the area of freedom security and justice civil and criminal aspects social rights protection environmental policy enlargement international trade and the common foreign and security policy

An Annotated Guide to the Victorian Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities 2008-01-01 this book written by one of the leading participants of the debate on a constitutionalization of international law explains why the charter of the united nations must be understood as the constitution of the international community and the legal consequences arising from that characterization

School's Choice 2021 in the wake of the tragedy and destruction that came with hurricane katrina in 2005 public schools in new orleans became part of an almost unthinkable experiment eliminating the traditional public education system and completely replacing it with charter schools and school choice fifteen years later the results have been remarkable and the complex lessons learned should alter the way we think about american education new orleans became the first us city ever to adopt a school system based on the principles of markets and economics when the state took over all of the city s public schools it turned them over to non profit charter school managers accountable under performance based contracts students were no longer obligated to attend a specific school based upon their address allowing families to act like consumers and choose schools in any neighborhood the teacher union contract tenure and certification rules were eliminated giving schools autonomy and control to hire and fire as they pleased in charter school city douglas n harris provides an inside look at how and why these reform decisions were made and offers many surprising findings from one of the most extensive and rigorous evaluations of a district school reform ever conducted through close examination of the results harris finds that this unprecedented experiment was a noteworthy success on almost every measurable student outcome but as harris shows new orleans was uniquely situated for these reforms to work well and that this market based reform still required some specific and active roles for government letting free markets rule on their own without government involvement will not generate the kinds of changes their advocates suggest combining the evidence from new orleans with that from other cities harris draws out the broader lessons of this unprecedented reform effort at a time when charter school debates are more based on ideology than data this book is a powerful evidence based and in depth look at how we can rethink the roles for governments markets and nonprofit organizations in education to ensure that america s schools fulfill their potential for all students

Civic Charters 1905 on the historic occasion of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the association of southeast asian nations asean in 2007 the leaders of the ten member countries signed the asean charter this book captures the insiders views of the drafting of the charter it is suitable for those interested in asean and international law

A Charter School Principal's Story 2019-03-27 what is a charter school where do they come from who promotes them and why what are they supposed to do are they the silver bullet to the ills plaguing the american public education system this book provides a comprehensive and accessible overview and analysis of charter schools and their many dimensions it shows that charter schools as a whole lower the quality of education through the privatization and marketization of education the final chapter provides readers with a way toward rethinking and remaking education in a way that is consistent with modern requirements society and its members need a fully funded high quality public education system open to all and controlled by a public authority

The EU Charter of Fundamental Rights 2010-12-02 prof leong wai kum not only demystifies the provisions of the women s charter she also situates the charter in singapore s political context at the time the author gives a balanced view of the charter by highlighting the progressive provisions as well as its shortcomings outstanding is her personal view that the charter provides a moral view of marriage as being an equal cooperative partnership of different efforts she also holds the view that the charter elevates the status of women as it gives equal importance to women s unpaid work and men s paid work the charter enshrines and elevates the institution of marriage at the same time it also gives the reader an impression of the state s approach to familial relationships this is a must read book for those who are interested in gender issues cheng u wen lena founder member and 1st president of aware the author affirms the primacy of the women s charter as a radically progressive legislation ahead of its time in the ideals that guided the drafters and in regulating family law in singapore it provides thoughtful practical suggestions invaluable insights rationalises the provisions of the charter comments on its many strengths and some of its shortcomings perhaps the most valuable and appealing insight that the author highlights is that the charter offers a moral message that calls on men and women to treat each other as equal partners discharge their obligation jointly and generally behave with consideration towards one another i would encourage all those planning to get married to study the singapore women s charter 50 questions constance singam writer social activist past president of aware the women s charter is arguably one of singapore s most important pieces of legislation as it fundamentally altered the social fabric of the country it also has a very real and direct impact on the lives of many singaporeans today this book is therefore to be warmly welcomed as it deals with 50 questions that are commonly asked about the women s charter written in a clear succinct and yet scholarly manner by singapore s leading family law academic the book will be helpful to singaporeans who either need to understand the charter better or who have an interest in how the law seeks to regulate the institution of marriage in singapore prof tan cheng han dean of law faculty national university of singapore this book is a clear and concise guide to how the women s charter protects women and families in singapore it looks behind and beyond the word of the law to consider the effect and effectiveness of the statute undoubtedly the book is a useful tool for understanding how this legislation helps strengthen and preserve the singapore family laura hwang president singapore council of women s organisations

An Epitome of the Law Relating to Charter-Parties and Bills of Lading 2013-09 winner of the 2021 hayek book prize a leading conservative intellectual defends charter schools against the teachers unions politicians and liberal educators who threaten to dismantle their success the black white educational achievement gap so much discussed for so many years has already been closed by black students attending new york city s charter schools this might be expected to be welcome news but it has been very unwelcome news in traditional public schools whose students are transferring to charter schools a backlash against charter schools has been led by teachers unions politicians and others not only in new york but across the country if those attacks succeed the biggest losers will be minority youngsters for whom a quality education is their biggest chance for a better life
