Empires, Imperialism and Southeast Asia 1997 in this volume a number of friends and colleagues pay tribute to nicholas tarling a distinguished scholar who has spent a career illuminating the impact and legacy of european power on southeast asia the contributions range widely from the early modern societies of borneo to the rise and decline of european imperialism to twentieth century expressions of nationhood and nationalism in his own work tarling creates a blend of local international cultural and intellectual history this volume tries to do the same as the contributors tell stories full of incident and ideas publisher s description includes british policy in the straits of malacca to 1819 and the collapse of the traditional malay state structure dianne lewis sir john anderson in malaya 1904 1911 khoo kay kim overseas japanese overseas chinese and british justice 1931 ian nish law and order british management of malayan communism during the interwar years 1919 1942 c f yong writing a history of brunei leonard andaya and the legacy of british rule in hong kong and its interaction with beijing s objectives john wong

Imperialism in Southeast Asia 2003-08-29 one of the few studies of imperialism to concentrate on southeast asia tarling s work focuses on the establishment of political control from 1870 to 1914 and analyses attempts to re establish control after the second world war

Imperialism in Southeast Asia 2001 imperialism in southeast asia examines its subject against a backdrop of those countries that could at a given time be called imperialist britain france spain the netherlands and the us examining the imperialist phenomenon from this wide ranging perspective reveals imperialism as driven by rivalry it also facilitates comparison imperialism has elements in common yet differs according to the territory in which it operates this is one of the few studies of imperialism to concentrate on southeast asia nicholas tarling s definition of imperialism focuses on the establishment of political control from 1870 to 1914 moving forward in time the author analyses attempts to re establish control after the overthrow of imperial regimes in the second world war most recently southeast asia has become a region of independent states and tarling discusses imperial ventures as forms of state building at the same time his discussion reflects another contemporary concern globalisation and the relationship of the state to that process nicolas tarling is an eminent writer in asian history his latest book will be of great interest to all those studying or involved in asian studies history and politics

Liberalism and the British Empire in Southeast Asia 2018-09-07 this collection of essays collects the leading scholars on british colonial thought in southeast asia to consider the question what was the relationship between liberalism and the british empire in southeast asia the empire builders in southeast asia lord minto william farquhar john leyden thomas stamford raffles and john crawfurd to name a few were fervent believers in a liberal free trade order in southeast asia many recent studies of british imperialism and european imperialism more generally have addressed how the anti imperialist tradition of eighteenth century liberalism was increasingly intertwined with the discourses of empire freedom race and economics in the nineteenth century this collection extends those studies to look at the impact of liberalism on british colonialism in southeast asia and early nineteenth century southeast asia we see some of the first attempts at developing multicultural democracies within the colonies experiments in free trade and attempts to use free trade to prevent war and colonisation

Notes on Western Imperialism in Southeast Asia in the 19th Century 1960 the idea of race played an increasing role in nineteenth century british colonial thought for most of the nineteenth century john crawfurd towered over british colonial policy in south east asia being not only a colonial administrator journalist and professional lobbyist but also one of the key racial theorists in the british empire he approached colonialism as a radical liberal proposing universal voting for all races in british colonies and believing all races should have equal legal rights yet at the same time he also believed that races represented distinct species of people who were unrelated this book charts the development of crawfurd s ideas from the brief but dramatic period of british rule in java to his political campaigns against james brooke and british rule in borneo central to crawfurd s political battles were the debates he had with his contemporaries such as stamford raffles and william marsden over the importance of race and his broader challenge to universal ideas of history which questioned the racial unity of humanity the book taps into little explored manuscripts newspapers and writings to uncover the complexity of a leading nineteenth century political and racial thinker whose actions and ideas provide a new view of british liberal colonial and racial thought

The Development of European Imperialism in Southeast Asia and India 1946 the six volumes that make up this unique set provide an extensive overview of colonialism in south east asia in the majority of cases authors chosen were specialists writing about their individual areas of expertise and had first hand experience in the region outline of contents i imperialism before 1800 edited by peter borschberg ii empire building in the nineteenth century iii high imperialism iv imperial decline nationalism and the japanese challenge v peaceful transitions to independence vi independence through violent struggle

Race and British Colonialism in Southeast Asia, 1770-1870 2016-10-14 the period when the british were establishing political and commercial hegemony in southeast asia also saw the foundation of the present day asian tiger economies webster traces the steps leading to the consolidation of british interest

South East Asia, Colonial History: High imperialism (1890s-1930s) 2001 this volume is a festschrift for damodar ramaji sardesai b 1931 professor emeritus of history at the university of california los angeles ucla where all of the contributors received their ph d as did sardesai himself his work for over fifty years at ucla has been an inspiration to generations of students and he has made major contributions to the world of learning and in his chosen areas of specialization of india especially its foreign policy with regard to southeast asia imperialism and the history of the modern european empires and southeast asia he has served as chair of the history department at ucla as well as bombay university and president of the asiatic society of bombay the volume includes a biographical introduction and a bibliographic essay on sardesai s major writings and contains new and cutting edge essays on the design of imperial vijayanagara famine policy in colonial india and how european imperialist policies created or exacerbated the impact of famines the relatively unknown chapter of chinese gordon s brief indian career reflections on the tamil humanist a madhaviah a man ahead of his time nationalism and the career of industrialist g d birla gandhi s friend the chindia problematic india and china relations the state of philippine historiography and its nationalist impulses the role of vietnamese highlanders in the vietnamese nationalist struggle and their recent plight early malayan nationalism and the efforts of american administrators to protect philippine highland natives from being forced to participate in international exhibitions as curiosities from the american colony

Gentlemen Capitalists 1998-12-31 this reflective and provocative 1998 book outlines the emergence of the nation states of modern southeast asia it considers various ways of looking at southeast asian history combining narrative analysis and discussion the book focuses mainly on the period from the eighteenth century to the present it is divided into three sections the first gives a broad historical overview of indonesia malaysia singapore brunei the philippines burma myanmar vietnam and siam thailand the second reflects in a comparative context on significant problems in understanding southeast asia s past and present the third explores the current state of writing southeast asian history underlying the discussion is an awareness of how ongoing tensions between east and west shape history and frame the present this book reflects a lifetime s scholarship and will become a major interpretive synthesis of modern southeast asia

Nationalism and Imperialism in South and Southeast Asia 2016-09-13 the success of regionalism in southeast asia depends on the attitudes of the states within the region but also on the attitude of those outside it this book is an erudite and stimulating study on the latter placing these states in a long term historical context tarling brings out the way in which the rivalries of those powers within the region and outside it have affected the states within the region he also shows how divisions within the region and within states in the region offered invitations and opportunities for intervention from outside and so perhaps gave southeast asia an importance in international relations it would not otherwise have had regional leaders appear in recent decades to have recognised what may be construed as one of the lessons of history if southeast asia can provide security for the straits route and stable conditions for trade and investment it might enjoy both peace and a measure of prosperity southeast asia and the great powers is an important read for students and scholars of the history and international relations of southeast asia

Gentlemen Capitalists 1998 traditionally the tumultuous period 1930 50 in south east asia has been viewed as a dichotomy of european vs asian or imperialist vs nationalist this highly acclaimed volume presents another triangular perspective and challenges established wisdom about the period

Nations and States in Southeast Asia 1998-05-13 colonial armies were the focal points for some of the most dramatic tensions inherent in chinese japanese and western clashes with southeast asia the international team of scholars take the reader on a compelling exploration from ming china to the present day examining their conquests management and decolonization the journey covers perennial themes such as the recruitment loyalty and varied impact of foreign dominated forces but it also ventures into uncharted waters by highlighting asian use of colonial forces to dominate other asians this sends the reader back in time to the fifteenth century chinese expansion into yunnan and vietnam and forwards to regional tensions in present day indonesia and post colonial issues in malaysia and singapore drawing these strands together

the book shows how colonial armies must be located within wider patterns of demography and within bigger systems of imperial security and power american british chinese dutch french indonesian and japanese which in turn helped to shape modern southeast asia colonial armies in southeast asia will interest scholars working on low intensity conflict on the interaction between armed forces and society on comparative imperialism and on southeast asia

Southeast Asia and the Great Powers 2013-06-17 regionalism in southeast asia provides the reader with an historical analysis of southeast asia from the distinct perspective of regionalism southeast asian history is usually written from a national point of view which underplays the links between neighbouring states and nations and the effects of these bonds on the development of regionalism this innovative book begins by defining the meaning of region and regionalism and then applies it to periods in history in southeast asia looking at how patterns of regionalism have shifted through time to the present day by focusing on the regional perspective nicholas tarling gives an original treatment of southeast asian history its political dynamics and its international realtions regionalism in southeast asia completes a trilogy of books on southeast asia by nicholas tarling published by routledge the other two are nationalism in southeast asia and imperialism in southeast asia

Imperial Policy and Southeast Asian Nationalism 2013-10-08 this cutting edge collection presents a political reading of the power of modern sport in asia providing an interdisciplinary study of political and cultural tensions in asia past and present through the key case study of sport it illuminates the complex practices and legacies of japanese imperialism across east and southeast asia through the 20th century and beyond focusing on the deep background to contemporary dynamics of intraregional tensions it examines sport both as a tool of imperialism and as an agent of reconciliation as the region gears up to the 2020 olympics in tokyo offering a unique contribution to east asian studies colonial and postcolonial studies and sport studies this work represent key reading for students and scholars of east asian studies international politics and sports diplomacy

The American Approach to Imperialism in Southeast Asia 1977 a discussion on the definition of imperialism and how it is situated in asia both by area and by time a resource for students to consider options for the term imperialism and to appraise its often unqualified use in domestic and international politics in more recent times

Colonial Armies in Southeast Asia 2005-12-21 did european imperialism invent asian religion casting faiths brings together eleven scholars to show how western law governance education and mission in east and southeast asia shaped the basic understanding of what religion is and what role it should play in society but as these essays show western ideas were not always imposed at gunpoint in places like burma or indonesia many of these changes were initiated by european imperialism yet they also reached places like china which was never colonized and japan which had an empire of its own and decades after the empires were dismantled we can still see their effects in asian societies today provided by publisher

The American Approach to Imperialism in Southeast Asia 1961 the six volumes that make up this unique set provide an extensive overview of colonialism in south east asia in the majority of cases authors chosen were specialists writing about their individual areas of expertise and had first hand experience in the region outline of contents i imperialism before 1800 edited by peter borschberg ii empire building in the nineteenth century iii high imperialism iv imperial decline nationalism and the japanese challenge v peaceful transitions to independence vi independence through violent struggle

South-East Asia from Colonialism to Independence 1974 the first english translation of professor locher scholten s 1994 dutch text a study of the reaction to dutch colonial expansion by the sumatran sultanate of jambi the dutch text has been called an excellent teaching tool for work on the netherlands imperial project locher scholten s extensive archive work in both holland and indonesia her explicit reference to secondary theoretical works and her useful lists mean that her analysis is transparent and accessible

Regionalism in Southeast Asia 2006-09-27 arc of containment recasts the history of american empire in southeast and east asia from world war ii through the end of american intervention in vietnam setting aside the classic story of anxiety about falling dominoes wen qing ngoei articulates a new regional history premised on strong security and sure containment guaranteed by anglo american cooperation ngoei argues that anticommunist nationalism in southeast asia intersected with preexisting local antipathy toward china and the chinese diaspora to usher the region from european dominated colonialism to us hegemony central to this revisionary strategic assessment is the place of british power and the effects of direct neocolonial military might and less overt cultural influences based in decades of colonial rule also essential to the analysis in arc of containment is the considerable influence of southeast asian actors upon anglo american imperial strategy throughout the post war period in arc of containment ngoei shows how the pro us trajectory of southeast asia after the pacific war was in fact far more characteristic of the wider region s history than american policy failure in vietnam indeed by the early 1970s five key anticommunist nations malaya singapore philippines thailand and indonesia had quashed chinese influenced socialist movements at home and established with u s support a geostrategic arc of states that contained the vietnamese revolution and encircled china in the process the euro american colonial order of southeast asia passed from an era of anglo american predominance into a condition of us hegemony arc of containment demonstrates that american failure in vietnam had less long term consequences than widely believed because british pro west nationalism had been firmly entrenched twenty plus years earlier in effect ngoei argues the cold war in southeast asia was but one violent chapter in the continuous history of western imperialism in the region in the twentieth century

Japanese Imperialism: Politics and Sport in East Asia 2017-10-11 british artists and commentators in the late 18th and early 19th century encoded the twin aspirations of progress and power in images and descriptions of southeast asia s ruined hindu and buddhist candi pagodas wats and monuments to the british eye images of the remains of past civilisations allowed indeed stimulated philosophical meditations on the rise and decline of entire empires ruins were witnesses to the fall humbling and disturbingly prophetic prompts to speculation on imperial failure and the remains of the buddhist and hindu monuments scattered across southeast asia proved no exception this important study of a highly appealing but relatively neglected body of work adds multiple dimensions to the history of art and image production in britain of the period showing how the anxieties of empire were encoded in the genre of landscape paintings and prints

Imperialism in Asia 2005 using the presence of the past as a point of departure this books explores three critical themes in southeast asian oral history the relationship between oral history and official histories produced by nation states the nature of memories of violence and intersections between oral history oral tradition and heritage discourses

The Imperialism of Urban Public Transport in Southeast Asia 1981 this book offers a history of international public health spanning the colonial and post colonial eras the volume focuses on india and the transnational networks connecting developments in india with southeast asia and the wider world and contributes to debates on nationalism internationalism and science in an age of decolonization

Casting Faiths 2009 the study of the history of southeast asia is still growing evolving deepening and changing as an academic field over the past few decades historians have added nuance to traditional topics such as islam and nationalism and created new ones such as gender globalization and the politics of memory the routledge handbook of southeast asian history looks at the major themes that have developed in the study of modern southeast asian history since the mid 18th century contributions by experts in the field are clustered under three major headings political history economic history and social and cultural history and chapters challenge the boundaries between topics and regions alongside the rise and fall of colonialism topics include conflict in southeast asia tropical ecology capitalism and its discontents the major religions of the region gender and ethnicity the handbook provides a stimulating introduction to the most important themes within the subject area and is an invaluable reference work for any student and researcher on southeast asia and asian and world history

South East Asia, Colonial History: Imperial decline: nationalism and the Japanese challenge (1920s-1940s) 2001 this book explains why british defence policy and practice emerged as it did in the period 1941 67 by looking at the overlapping of colonial military economic and cold war factors in the area its main focus is on the 1950s and the decolonisation era but it argues that the plans and conditions of this period can only be understood by tracing them back to their origins in the fall of singapore also it shows how decolonisation was shaped not just by british aims but by the way communism communalism and nationalism facilitated and frustrated these

Sumatran Sultanate and Colonial State 2004 the six volumes that make up this unique set provide an extensive overview of colonialism in south east asia in the majority of cases authors chosen were specialists writing about their individual areas of expertise and had first hand experience in the region outline of contents i imperialism before 1800 edited by peter borschberg ii empire building in the nineteenth century iii high imperialism iv imperial decline nationalism and the japanese challenge v peaceful transitions to independence vi independence through violent struggle

Arc of Containment 2019-05-15 for over a century french officials in indochina systematically uprooted métis children those born of southeast asian mothers and white african or indian fathers from their homes in many cases and for a wide range of reasons death divorce the end of a romance a return to france or because the birth was the result of rape the father had left the child in the mother s care although the program succeeded in rescuing homeless children from life on the streets for those in their mothers care it was disastrous citing an 1889 french law and claiming that raising children in the southeast asian cultural milieu was tantamount to abandonment colonial officials sought permanent protective custody of the children placing them in state run orphanages or educational institutions to be transformed into little frenchmen the uprooted offers an in depth investigation of the colony s child removal program the motivations behind it reception of it and resistance to it métis children eurasians in particular were seen as a threat on multiple fronts colonial security white french dominance and the colonial gender order officials feared that abandoned métis might become paupers or prostitutes thereby undermining white prestige métis were considered particularly vulnerable to the lure of anticolonialist movements their ambiguous racial identity and outsider status it was thought might lead them to rebellion métis children who could pass for white also played a key role in french plans to augment their own declining numbers and reproduce the french race nation and after world war ii empire french child welfare organizations continued to work in vietnam well beyond independence until 1975 the story of the métis children they sought to help highlights the importance and vulnerability of indigenous mothers and children to the colonial project part of a larger historical trend the indochina case shows striking parallels to that of australia s stolen generation and the indian and first nations boarding schools in the united states and canada this poignant and little known story will be of interest to scholars of french and southeast asian studies colonialism gender studies and the historiography of the family

Southeast Asia in Ruins 2016-08-26 a comprehensive introduction to the study of asia written thematically it provides comparisons between asian and australian societies and encourages readers to think about australia s neighbours across a wide range of social economic and historical contexts

Oral History in Southeast Asia 2013-07-17 susan morgan s study of materials and regions previously neglected in contemporary postcolonial studies begins with the transforming premise that place matters concepts derived from writings about one area of the world cannot simply be transposed to another area in some sort of global theoretical move moreover place in the discourse of victorian imperialism is a matter of gendered as well as geographic terms taking up works by anna forbes and marianne north on the malay archipelago by margaret brooke and harriette mcdougall on sarawak by isabella bird and emily innes on british malaya by anna leonowens on siam morgan also makes extensive use of theorists whose work on imperialism in southeast asia is unfamiliar to most american academics

Decolonizing International Health 2006-10-10 this text explains british defence policy by examining the overlapping of colonial military economic and cold war factors in southeast asia

Imperialism Without Invading Armies 1976 this study investigates the connections between opium policy and imperialism in burma it examines what influenced the imperial regime s opium policy decisions such as racial ideologies the necessity of articulating a convincing rationale for british governance and burma s position in multiple imperial and transnational networks

Tensions of Empire 2003 the nations of southeast asia today are rapidly integrating economically and politically but that integration is also counterbalanced by forces ranging from hyper nationalism to disputes over cultural ownership throughout the region those forces farish a noor argues in this book have their roots in the region s failure to come to a critical understanding of how current national and cultural identities in the region came about to remedy that noor offers a close account of the construction of southeast asia in the nineteenth century by the forces of capitalism and imperialism and shows how that construct remains a potent aspect of political economic and cultural disputes today
